

George Wilson Todd

About Me

I am a final year BA Film Production student at the University of Portsmouth, with plans to do MA Graphic Design next year. My main areas of interest are anime, film and game marketing for both media and merchandising.

I am the current Head of Design & Social Media for the university magazine Spyglass. In this job I have worked on illustration, graphic design, writing and editing articles for the magazine, before and during being appointed to my position.
